How do parents connect?

They're added automatically when your district partners with ClassDojo. No more sending links or chasing down sign-ups—parents will receive updates from you without you having to do a thing.

Can I still use ClassDojo to reinforce positive behavior?

Absolutely! You can use class and school points to reinforce positive behavior and create consistency across your whole district.

Is it safe and private?

Yes! ClassDojo follows strict safety standards and aligns with all applicable legislation, including COPPA & FERPA.

Does it work for middle and high schools too?

Yes! There are special modes designed for older students with a more age-appropriate look and feel, plus automatic updates for classes, students, and teachers.

Is it really free?

Yes! ClassDojo is always free for teachers, schools, and now districts. Families can choose an optional paid subscription for added extras (about 5% do), and we also offer DojoTutor, a paid online tutoring program for kids Pre-K to 9th grade.

What if parents speak different languages?

No problem. Messages are automatically translated into 130+ languages, so every family can understand and stay involved—without any extra work for you.

Does ClassDojo sell students' data?

Absolutely not. We never share student data with advertisers, marketers, or anyone else. Everything shared on ClassDojo—from classroom updates to school announcements—stays completely private.

What's the biggest benefit for me as a teacher or school leader?

Less time chasing parents, more time teaching. Plus, our district partners get access to expert-led professional development and training, so you can make the most of everything ClassDojo has to offer.

How do I get started?

Your district admin takes care of setup, so you can keep using ClassDojo as usual—just with more support. If you're excited about bringing your whole community together, share classdojo.com/districts with your district leaders, and we'll handle the rest.

Every ClassDojo product is designed to be safe for all users, and data-secure, from the ground up.
