

Sam Chaudhary

Short bio (~50 words)

Sam Chaudhary is co-founder and CEO of ClassDojo, one of the world's fastest-growing education technology companies. ClassDojo is the world's most widely used classroom communication app, currently actively used in 90% of K-8 schools in the US, and a further 180 countries. In recognition of ClassDojo's impact in education, Sam has been named to the 30 Under 30 list multiple times by both Forbes and Inc, and a LinkedIn Leader Under 35. The company's mission is to give teachers, parents and students the power to create incredible classrooms.

Long bio (~250 words)

Sam Chaudhary is co-founder and CEO at ClassDojo, a classroom communication app for teachers, parents and students. By taking a ground-up approach to change, ClassDojo has become one of the world's fastest-growing education technology companies, being used by tens of millions of people in 90% of K-8 schools in the US, and a further 180 countries. In the past year, the company has partnered with institutions such as Stanford and Harvard to help one in three kids under the age of 14 in the US learn social-emotional skills like growth mindset and empathy. Last year, the company was recognized as one of the Most Innovative Apps of the Year by Fast Company.

Prior to co-founding ClassDojo, Sam was a high school economics teacher and worked in McKinsey's global education practice in London, where he collaborated with the UK government and international NGOs on education policy. He has been named a 30 Under 30 Leader by both Forbes and Inc. Magazine and was recognized as a LinkedIn Next Wave Leader Under 35. Sam graduated from the University of Cambridge with a degree in economics.

Liam Don

Short bio (~50 words)

Liam Don is co-founder and CTO of ClassDojo, one of the world's fastest-growing education technology companies. ClassDojo is the world's most widely used classroom communication app, currently actively used in 90% of K-8 schools in the US, and a further 180 countries. In recognition of ClassDojo's impact in education, Liam has been named to the 30 Under 30 list by both Forbes and Inc., and a LinkedIn Leader Under 35. The company's mission is to give teachers, parents and students the power to create incredible classrooms.

Long bio (~125 words)

Liam Don is co-founder and CT of ClassDojo, a classroom communication app for teachers, parents and students. By taking a ground-up approach to change, ClassDojo has become one of the world's fastest-growing education technology companies, being used by tens of millions of people in 90% of K-8 schools in the US, and a further 180 countries. In the past year, the company has partnered with institutions such as Stanford and Harvard to help one in three kids under the age of 14 in the US learn social-emotional skills like growth mindset and empathy. Last year, the company was recognized as one of the Most Innovative Apps of the Year by Fast Company.

Prior to co-founding ClassDojo, Liam worked on one of the world's most popular online games, Runescape, and was pursuing a CS PhD focused on the use of technology in classrooms at the University of Durham. In recognition of ClassDojo's impact in education, Liam has been named a 30 Under 30 Leader by both Forbes and Inc. Magazine.

