

What is ClassDojo?

ClassDojo is a communication platform that helps teachers, schools, districts, and families stay connected around what matters most: students' learning, growth, and well-being.

It's trusted and used by 50 million teachers, staff, and families everyday across the globe, with active use in 9 in 10 districts in the US.

In our district, teachers & school leaders use ClassDojo to share classroom updates, celebrate student progress, and communicate directly with families. It helps strengthen engagement by making families feel more connected to what's happening at school.

How ClassDojo is used in our schools

ClassDojo is primarily used by teachers to:

- Share classroom photos, videos, and updates
- Communicate with families about learning and activities
- Celebrate positive behaviors and progress
- Help families feel connected to what's happening at school
- Provide instant, real-time translation in over 190 languages

Not every classroom uses ClassDojo in the same way. Your student's teacher will share how they use it in their class and what to expect.

How to get connected to your student's class

To make sure families are connected to the correct class, school, and teacher, ClassDojo account invitations are shared directly by schools and teachers. To get started:

To get started:

- 1 Wait for an invitation from your student's teacher, or
- 2 Contact your student's teacher or school if you haven't received an invite.

Need help?

If you have questions about how ClassDojo is used in your student's classroom, your student's teacher or school office is the best place to start.

For general how-to questions, you can also visit the ClassDojo Help Center: help.classdojo.com